

God's Bright and Beautiful Sunflower
Written by: Sherrie Rippert

My beautiful sunflower as she grows strong and bold;
says to me God now my story can be told.

In reaching for the heavens, smiling large at you;
I am thanking you God for teaching me what I need to do.

Look at me now...I am dancing in the warm breeze;
Inside my heart I'm bending on my knees.

Every petal in its place, full of bright color just like the human race;
Thank you God for your Hope and Grace!

Praising awesome God who created you and me;
Now because of love and hope, I live in victory!